The total shipment of bullion from Bodie during the last week amounted to $65,741.

Auburn, Placer county, Cal., boasts of a population of 2,500, and property is rapidly rising in value. Lots are worth twice as much now as at any previous time since the town was started.

A San Francisco thief stole some mining stock and was arrested on a charge of grand larceny. Before the trial came off the break in the market sent the stock down, and the prosecutor was forced to reduce the crime to

The Los Angeles, Cal., Express says that forty acres of land near that city recently sold for $20 an acre. A few years ago a tract adjoining was disposed of by the same party for $400 an acre. This transaction shows a abrinkage of ninety-five cent, from speculation prices.

A New Haven dispatch says: There was a dramatic scene in the Hayden trial to-day during the cross-examination of Mrs. Hayden, when Mr. Walter saked the following question: "Now, madame, you need not answer this question until you are told to by the court. Mr. Hayden, you say, is your husband, the father of your three children, and he has been a devoted hasband to a loving wife for eight or nine years. You have maintained pleasant relations and there has been, and is now, the utmost confidence between you. You are convinced of his innocence, and know that if he is found guilty he must suffer ignominious punishment. Under the circumstances, would you not, as you are so found guilty he must suffer ignominious punishment. Under the curcumistances, would you not, as you are so convinced of his innocence, make a misetatement in order to save him from punishment!" There was no answer. The witness burst into tears, as did nearly every woman in the court, and tears glistened in the open of the sterner sex. The silence of death prevaded the room, and the counsel for the defense cried out, "It is an insult to "the witness!" Walter defended his action, but the court ruled the question an improper one.

The new time card of the Central sciffs Railroad for through and way sine will be issued some time this conth, but the precise date is not yet mounced. WHO IS SHE?

On the occasion of Gen. Grant's late isit to Reno, Mrs. Grant stood for especially directed her attention.

"That." she said. "is the pretties girl I have so n in all my travels." Her son was in the car and she callod to him: "Fred, come here. There's a very beautiful young lady I want

"But you haven't seen this one, persisted Mrs. Grant.

The much petted Grantling at length oined his mother, and concurred in her opinion of the lady's beauty. her opinion of the lady's country.
Several Reno ladies, standing near Mrs. Grant, recognized the object of her admiration. The story has just reached the ears of a GAZETTE reporter, reached the ears of a GAZETTE reporter, and a prominent citizen vouches for its truth. The lady's name is not published, as she dislikes no oriety, and because if it were given, she would at once be the subject of the eavy, malice, and all uncharitableness of her acquaintances. Only from the ladies who heard Mrs. Grant's expression of opinion can the fair one's name be learned. Though threatened with battle murder and sudden death, the battle, murder and sudden death, the reporter will not reveal it. He is pledged to secrecy.

For each and all of the many beau tiful ladies of Reno, who were not thus honored by Mrs. Grant, there is this consolation. Those who were not so remarked may not have been present at the time. Or, being at the depot, they may not have been seen. And, suppose they were there, were seen by Mrs. Grant, and not admired. Who is Mrs. Grant, that she should make such invidious and absurd remarks? She has no great reputation as a judge of beauty; not a national market She has no great reputation as a judge of beauty; not a national fame for it, any how. At least she is not celebrated in Europe as a critic of that kind. Mrs. Grant may be color blind for all anybody knows. Men are better judges of such things any way, and every fair reader of this article, uncomplimented by the Genticle, uncomplimented by the General's wife, has plenty of masculine friends who would decide, on appeal, that Mrs. Grant was wrong.

Particulars of the Burning of Five

LOVELOCKS, Dec. 11th, 1879. - Five Chinamen, gardeners, who lived in a tent, or brush and tule hous; covered with canvas, were found dead yesterday morning by some neighbors Their brush house had taken fire and burned up and they must have been stupefied with opium, as none of them seemed to have stirred. Their clothing was all burned off, and one or two were fairly roasted, but most of them were not disfigured at all. They looked as if they were asked. ed as if they were asleep. The Coro-ner of Humboldt county has been no-tified, and will doubtless come over to-day to investigate the affair. There are two or three inches of snow all over the valley.

A long platform next the track has been recently put down. The house is two story, 32x32, with 12 rooms up stairs, and kitchen, dialog room, store, telegraph office, bar room, parlor, etc., on the first floor. A fine water tank and wind mill will provide water for every room, and to irrigate quite a ranch and supply a handsome fountain in front. The house is hard finished throughout, and very well lighted. There is not a dark corner in the house. It is the best one between Ogden and Reno. Jimmy Borland and wife are running it in first class style. The emigrant trains stop there for meals.

As Courtney no s himself states, he began the interview on the street by again bringing his fist into foreible contact with the nose of Maguire. Stimulated by the injury to his nassl organ, the latter drew his pecket knife and with its open blade he prodded Courtney's ribs. Courtney saw and felt the cold steel in contact with his body, and felt to the ground under the impression that his heart's blood was abnormally flowing. He was removed to the hospital, although the only trouble with him was the diffusion of alcohol under the skin. His wounds were mere scratches.

Yesterday Courtney appeared in the Justice's court, and pleaded guilty to the charge of assault on Maguire. He was fined $30, which sum he paid. After his attack upon Courtney with the knife, Maguire was arrested and put under bail. His examination has not yet taken place, nor has the time for it been set. But as Courtney admits that he began the attack in the street, Maguire will no doubt he cleared, as it will appear that the latter used the knife in self defense.

The robbery of the house of Samuel Myers on Virginia street last Wednes-day noon, which the officers kept quiet in order to work up the case, was one of the boldest that has been perpetrated here for along time. The pres were entered while Myers was away at dinner and $152 in coin and a valuable watch and chain were stolen. Myers suspected Joe Wyman to be one of the thieves, and his departure from town strengthened the suspicion. Wyman was overtaken and captured at Verdi by Deputy Sheriffs Gray and Chamberlain. No money was found on him at the time of the arrest, but on the cars, coming home, Gray heard a metallic rattle in the garments of their prisoner. When they reached the jail Gray made the prisoner take off his coat and on searching it the sum of $97.50 in coin was found concealed in the lining of one of the sleewere entered while Myers was away at cealed in the lining of one of the slee ves. Burglar stools were also found upor him. Among the money recovered were two coins that can be identified were two coins that can be identified.

Messra, James S. Taylor & Co., 116 Front Street, San Francisco—GENTS: We are using your Champsone Baking Fowder, and with puthestation we pronounce it perfection. No reasonable person could ask for a better powder. Use as directed and it never fails—only one Teaspoonful to a quart Flour.

Reno, Sept. 23d, 1879. LUMBER!

OFFICE OF THOMAS PRICE, Sacramento Street.
San Francisco, May 24, 1879
Mesrs. J. S. Taylor & Co.—Genrs: A have made a careful examination of bread and biscuit prepared under my own directions by theine of your Champage Baking l'owder, and find that they do not contain alum or any other injurious or deleterious ingredients. Respectfully submitted, E. ELLEN, PROP'R OF THE VINGINIA, NEV., Sept. 19, 1879 t St., San Francisco-GENTE : 1 make better results with one teaspoonful to a quart of flour with your champagns. Yeast Powder than with three teaspoonfuls of any other I have ever used. If there is a yeast powder anywhere in the world equal to it, I have never seen or heard of it. As a baker I have never seen or heard of it. As a baker I monounce this powder simply perfection. AMBHOSE HUSSER. LUMBER.

EXCELLENT REMEDIES!

Mr. Ambrose Husser has been with me 34 cears. He is a first-class baker, and I endorse he above.
